Jeni : (sounds nervous) Oh hello...I'm sorry, I'm not sure, really I'm not, but is there someone whom I can ask about the advertisement?

Olin : Oh this is not the marketing department. I'm afraid you have got the wrong line. (a loud whirring sound suddenly appears from her behind)

Jeni : Uh no, not the marketing department. It is not marketing that I want to ask about...(voice trails off)

Olin : What? Again please? I can't hear you. There's someone vacuuming in the office right now.

Jeni : (louder voice but not assertive) I said, I don't want...uh, I want to ask about the job advertisement.

Olin : (the whirring sound suddenly stops) Ouch, you don't have to shout. So, which job advertisement is it?

Jeni : Please forgive me. I found a newspaper dated two weeks ago, but I could not see the application deadline for the job advertisement. It's dirty.

Olin : (sounds surprised) What?? The job is definitely not dirty. We are looking for a new assistant operations supervisor.

Jeni : (embarrassed, cheeks turn red) Yes, I'm sorry again. It's not a dirty job. I meant the newspaper was dirty. I wanted to know when the last day to apply is. I mean, the last day to submit my application letter and resume.
